

Oregon business need liability protection from COVID 19 lawsuits. Business goods and services are vital to Oregon's economy but with so little know about COVID 19, Oregon businesses are taking a huge risk by opening up and once again providing the goods and services Oregonians need and want. Oregon businesses can not afford addition expensive liability insurance even if it was offered. They also can't afford to defend themselves from a lawsuit for a virus that has no possible way of knowing how or when someone contracted it, if an employee unwittingly brings it in or a customer does or even if it originated at the place of business. Protect Oregon's struggling businesses. Help them provide the goods and services we all need and enjoy.
