

We all understand the need for police reform, but why take away a tool that is non-lethal when a mob mentality is shaping around this Nation?

There are very few methods to control an angry mob that is intent on creating bodily harm and property damage.

The decision to deploy tear gas or an acoustic cannon is a command decision that must be left to law enforcement agents on the scene.

When a Mob is threatening the life of officers, you will leave no choice for them to defend with lethal force.

Use common sense!
