

To whom it may concern.

I am writing you this letter in opposition of any gerrymandering that is about to take place in the current process of redistricting. The recent voting patterns on any level - local, state or federal - show that the Oregonians are split evenly or with ~10% advantage towards democratic party. And yet the representation on every level - house, senate and congress - is leaning towards super-majority with the worst case showing a whooping 60% advantage (congress, 4/5 democrats).

Such skewed results can only indicate a heavy tempering with district boundaries by the incumbent party. Please stop this practice and draw the boundaries that will help create fair representation in every level of the legislature.

Vlad Liubich
West Linn