In all things fairness.

To have a valid redistricting effort there has to be an adherence to the stated criteria.

The plan that best falls within the historic criteria is the Republican Plan B and the Congressional map put forth by the Redistricting Committee.

As a former three-term Union County Commissioner I know that Oregon's historic county line boundaries serve multiple purposes and a respect for those lines benefits counties, cities and school districts.

Voters pick their political leadership. Political leadership should not blatantly pick their voters. There appears to be a disturbing effort on behalf of the Democrats' planned submissions to destructively pick their political team. That ignores the existing communities of interest as well as violating the entirety of the redistricting criteria.

Respectfully Submitted,
Colleen MacLeod
