

Dear Redistricting Committee,

I'm focused on career, family, and social justice in the public, the government, and how we move the country, states, and beyond, forward for the common good, fairness, respect. It takes good policy, law, and enforcement. Oregon has extremely high integrity in the process of redistricting. I have read it all, and as a highly experienced Sr Reporting Accountant/Financial Analyst, and auditor with credentials, though not a lawyer. There is accountability, with complete accuracy, listening, participation, and criteria that builds the plan, agreement, and execution and control to get to success. it's a project, and many other states have good, and similar laws and process.

I'm a member of former Attorney General Eric Holder Jr's organization, National Democratic Redistricting Committee, working through the states, the courts, and due diligence and ethics to bring the appropriate results. Many states have problems, and I was in a zoom meeting with Eric Holder's organization, in which I shared Oregon's documentation for doing this. Many asked me to send to them; they read through it, and commended Oregon for having it in order, so as you put this in motion and all matters of criteria are met, we will see a result that is what we expect it to be: safe, secure, fair, all groups, districts, and the public will be equally represented.

There should not be gerrymandering, or circumvention of truth, and equality, as regards, voting rights, and representation in the House of Representatives, and state level requirements.

Thanks,

Harold Treinen
