What is the Interagency Compliance Network (ICN)?

Seven state agencies

- Bureau of Labor and Industries (BOLI)
- Construction Contractors Board (CCB)
- Department of Consumer and Business Services (DCBS)
- Department of Justice (DOJ)
- Department of Revenue (DOR)
- Landscape Contractors Board (LCB)
- Oregon Employment Department (OED)

Goal of employer education and improving compliance

- Information sharing
- Collaboration on enforcement activities
- Combined outreach

Misclassification

Misclassifying employees as independent contractors has significant implications for the workers and businesses involved as well as the state.

Impact to Workers

Independent contractors are not covered by many programs

- Unemployment Insurance
- Payroll tax withholding
- Workers' Compensation
- Employment non-discrimination
- Minimum wage, overtime, etc.
- Leave laws (OFLA, etc.)
- No employer-provided retirement benefits

Impact to Employers

Misclassification creates disadvantages for employers that follow the law

- Competitors have an unfair business advantage by benefiting from artificially low labor costs
- Unemployment Insurance and Workers' Compensation costs become inflated
- Moves compliant employers out of business, while non-complaint employers gamble on lack of private and public enforcement

ICN Continued Focus

- Outreach and Assistance
- Enforcement Activities
- Internal Development
- External Factors
