Measure 110: What the law does and doesn't do

Does generate $302 million in funding for critical addiction recovery and harm reduction services for this biennium.	Does not impact behavioral health services previously funded through Oregon's marijuana tax.
Does expand existing services offered by community providers whenever possible.	Does not require the construction of new buildings for services.
Does decriminalize possession of small amounts of drugs.	Does not legalize drugs.
Does treat people with Substance Use Disorder through a healthcare approach.	Does not treat people with Substance Use Disorder through the criminal justice system.

Earlier this year, the state distributed more than $30 million to immediately infuse our behavioral health system with desperately needed funds:

- 70 Organizations were funded with grants/amended contracts;
- 26 Counties received funding, including 15 Rural, 5 Southern, 4 Central, 4 Eastern, 5 Metro, and 3 Coastal communities;
- 33 Service providers have been able to expand access to treatment services for indigent/uninsured individuals;
- 52 Organizations have hired peer support specialists;
- 32 Service providers have added more recovery, supportive and transitional housing; and
- 30 Organizations increased the amount of harm reduction services they can provide.

In June of 2021 the Oregon Legislature approved $302 million in funding for Measure 110 services over the next two years.

That's more than TIMES what Oregon currently spends on non-Medicaid funding for those services.

"The influx of 110 grant funding meant we were able to keep the doors open at one of our rural treatment centers. We were able save Wasco County. We were just about to shut down three homes, 30 beds - it took us three years to launch out in The Dalles, which was a really big stretch for us..."

"Measure 110 funds have allowed us to expand in areas where our community desperately needs support, services and, perhaps most of all — hope. We've opened three new drop-in peer centers: one in Pendleton, one in Hermiston and one in Milton-Freewater. These centers will offer low-barrier access to addiction recovery services for people struggling with substance use."

Fresh Out Community Based Re-entry Program

The organization has helped 200+ people since June with vital supports like rental assistance and job training.

Community Outreach through Radical Empowerment has been able to dramatically ramp up their outreach efforts in Lane County, helping over 550 people through their outreach efforts since June.

Rogue Valley non-profits get grant money from state through Measure 110

His recovery is possible through Centro's support, which is getting its own boost to the tune of nearly $200,000 in state grants.
