Month/Date/Year – Month/Date/Year

Living in a fire-prone environment, but that doesn't mean we can't be prepared. Are you and your community ready for next fire season?

The Citizen Fire Academy volunteer education program is a joint effort of Oregon State University and local firefighting and forestry agencies to put wildfire preparedness into the hands of landowners and the community. Through this program, you will develop skills and knowledge that you can use to help reduce the risk of catastrophic effects of wildfire on your home, neighborhood, and community.

You will learn about the fundamentals of fire behavior and fire preparedness through a combination of online coursework, interactive activities, and engaging field tours. Following graduation, you will be able to contribute to wildfire preparedness in your community through volunteer service.
