BACKGROUND:

Oregon's rate of homeless individuals who are unsheltered is one of the highest in the United States. A 2019 Urban Institute report found that 24 percent (10,142 individuals) of homeless individuals in Oregon were unsheltered. The health and economic impacts of the COVID-19 crisis, as well as individuals and families displaced by last year's wildfires, have underscored the need for safe shelter to meet the health and safety needs of a growing homeless population.

In June 2020, the Legislative Assembly passed HB 4214 in the First Special Session. The measure allowed local governments and certain non-profit organizations to locate and develop emergency shelters in available buildings or on undeveloped sites without the need for any land use approvals, such as a zone change or conditional use permit, for the underlying property. The provisions of the measure were repealed on September 28, 2020, 90 days after the effective date of HB 4214.

The state expanded the statutory interpretation of transitional housing in 2019 to allow individuals without safe housing to be included among eligible residents, and it removed a two-parcel limit on campgrounds established for providing transitional housing accommodations.
