Experience the thrill of live horse racing at race meets this summer in Oregon. Thoroughbreds and quarter horses thunder around tracks from Tillamook on the coast to Burns in the eastern desert. Catch the crowd's excitement, bet on a longshot, or simply be dazzled by a beautiful horse flying down the straightaway -- Oregon's summer race circuit brings the thrill of horse racing to a track near you.

Union - Eastern Oregon Livestock Show

June 11-13, 2021

Eastern Oregon Livestock Show began in 1908 and bills itself as the oldest show in the Northwest. Horse races alternate with rodeo events: place a wager on a horse race, then watch calf ropers, then wander among the lambs and rabbits in the 4-H and FFA barns.

Prineville - Crooked River Roundup

July 14-17, 2021

Prineville "keeps it Western" with night horse racing. As the sun sets on the Oregon desert, the horse racing heats up, attracting an enthusiastic crowd that runs the gamut from cowboys to Facebookers.

Burns - Harney County Race Meet

July 24 and 25, 2021

Harney County's horse racing tradition dates to 1900, and at one time included Roman chariot and sulky races. Expect to see more 10-gallon hats than togas when you attend the meet, which moves this year from September to July.

Tillamook - Tillamook County Fair

Aug. 11-14, 2021

Around about August, a day at the Coast can sound pretty good. The Tillamook County Fair has been around since 1891, and besides horse racing offers agricultural displays, a midway and the renowned Pig-N-Ford races.
