WHAT THE MEASURE DOES:

Establishes Racial Justice Council to provide advice and recommendations to the Governor relating to racial justice, which may include recommending changes to state policies, practices, budgets, and structures; creating action plans to promote racial justice; developing strategies to institutionalize racial justice into state business; establishing and maintaining communication between community leaders and Office of Governor; identifying areas of potential stakeholder collaboration; directing data collection; providing principles and recommendations to inform the Governor's budget and tax expenditure report; and monitoring progress on council recommended programs and investments. Specifies council membership requirements; sets member terms at two years; and allows reappointment. Authorizes Governor to assign members to serve as liaisons with advocacy commissions and to appoint members and nonmembers to serve on committees. Requires modified consensus for official action. Directs council to report at least once per year to Legislative Assembly, Secretary of State, Bureau of Labor and Industries, State Treasurer, and Attorney General on strategies to institutionalize racial justice into the conduct of state government and other matters pertinent to dismantling systemic and institutional racism. Requires each agency budget to include a racial impact statement, developed in consultation with council, describing the impact of programs, policies, and budget modifications on Oregonians who are Black, Indigenous, or other people of color, and requires summary of agency statements in Governor's budget.
