WHAT THE MEASURE DOES:

Requires the Public Utility Commission (PUC) to provide a comprehensive classification of service that may take into account the differential energy burdens on low-income customers and other economic, social equity, or environmental justice factors that affect affordability for certain classes of utility customers. Allows financial assistance to be provided to organizations that represent the interests of low-income residential customers or residential customers who are members of environmental justice communities. Authorizes PUC to mitigate energy burden through bill reduction measures or programs that may, but need not be limited to, demand response or weatherization. Requires that the costs of tariff schedules, rates, bill credits or program discounts be collected in the rates paid by all retail electricity customers. Limits the total aggregate financial assistance available to organizations representing interests of low-income residential customers or residential customers that are members of environmental justice communities to $500,000 annually. Directs the PUC to establish a process for evaluating and approving agreements with organizations representing interests of low-income residential customers or residential customers who are members of environmental justice communities. Allows more than one public utility or organization to join in a single agreement. Requires the PUC to report on the implementation and impacts of annual financial assistance to organizations to the interim committees of the Legislative Assembly related to energy no later than September 15, 2025. Repeals reporting requirement on January 2, 2026.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Disproportionate amount of income spent by low-income Oregonians on utilities
- Organizations in communities that provide assistance to low-income Oregonians
- Senate Bill 978 (2017) process and recommendations
- Other entities acting as intervenors in Public Utility Commission processes

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

No amendment.

BACKGROUND:

The Oregon Public Utility Commission (PUC) regulates investor-owned utilities and is responsible for ensuring utility customers have access to safe, reliable, and high-quality utility services at just and reasonable rates. The scope and mandate of the PUC is determined by the legislature, which requires the PUC to balance the interests of customers and utility companies by ensuring that rates are both fair and provide adequate revenue for utilities to be financially sound (ORS 756.040).

Senate Bill 978 (2017) directed the PUC to use a public process to consider how its role as regulator of Oregon's investor-owned utilities might evolve, given changes in the energy industry and in energy policy. The PUC gathered input from stakeholders and compiled results into a report that was submitted to the Legislative

HB 2475 A STAFF MEASURE SUMMARY

Assembly on September 14, 2018. One recommendation was to authorize the PUC to improve equitable and affordable access to energy services by considering not only the broad interests of customers, but specific needs of low-income customers and environmental justice communities.

House Bill 2475 A would allow the PUC to consider differential energy burden and other inequities of affordability in rates. The bill would authorize the PUC to enter into agreements to provide financial assistance, limited to $500,000 annually, for organizations to represent interests of low-income residential customers and residential customers who are members of environmental justice communities in regulatory proceedings before the PUC.
