ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Effects of census data release delays
- Recent Oregon Supreme Court decision
- Need to engage community groups in redistricting

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

Replaces the measure.

BACKGROUND:

Federal law requires the United States Census Bureau to release the data used for redistricting to the states by March 31 of the year following the decennial census. (13 U.S.C.A. § 141). The Oregon State Constitution and state statute then require the Legislative Assembly to complete the redistricting of legislative and congressional districts respectively by July 1 of that same year (Or. Const. art. 4, § 6 and ORS 188.125). Related provisions specify the deadlines and processes by which redistricting can be completed should the Legislative Assembly fail to enact a plan or the enacted plan is challenged. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, and other unanticipated events, the Census Bureau has announced that the release of the redistricting data will be delayed until August 2021. In response, the Oregon Supreme Court granted a request by the Legislative Assembly to modify the constitutional deadlines related to the redistricting of legislative districts on a one-time basis to account for the delays. (State ex rel. Koteck v. Fagan, 367 Or. 803 (2021)). However, the Supreme Court was not asked to modify the statutory deadlines related to the redistricting of congressional districts and did not address it in its opinion.

Senate Bill 259 A modifies certain statutory deadlines related to congressional redistricting, judicial review, and the May 2022 primary elections.
