

The eviction moratorium must be extended and back rent payment due dates need to be pushed back. I managed to pay rent up until 3 months ago, when I spent all my savings to survive. After that was gone, the little bit of unemployment benefits I get and the few hours of work my employer can give me at this time did not provide enough income for me to pay rent. I'm having trouble finding rent assistance, and I may not be back to working full time until fall.
