

I support requiring the Department of Public Safety Standards and Training to investigate a person's character before accepting a person for training and certification as a police officer or reserve officer. I am confused as to why this is not already policy.