

This is obvious. We cannot be compelling prisoners (or anybody) to servitude without their consent. Even if this is just a formality - many imprisoned people will still want to work and contribute to society while in jail - it sends the right message in this time.