

This is a discriminatory tax to target one group of boat buyers that use the waters in Oregon. These boats are very expensive and would have a major impact on people trying to buy them and impact the small businesses and employees and their families that make a living from this segment of boating.