

Additional regulations (as unnecessary as this one) will be detrimental for the recreational boating community and leave a negative impact on the Oregon marine economy. A decrease in recreational users will also decrease public interest in maintaining our natural waterways.