

I fully support this bill if this effort includes a full and unbiased history and application of civics. Every child should be taught how our government works, the history of our nation and why the Constitution is more than just an antique document. I have encountered many adults who do not know the fundamentals and as a result do not have the confidence or knowledge in how to engage in the process. The past few years are a great example of the importance of teaching civics from a young age. How does a society answer the question of censorship in the public arena with the government enabling it? What should citizens do when government officials institute long term lockdowns with no accountability? What constitutional amendments apply to the closures of school, private business and religious institutions? What good is government if its citizens don't know their rights and responsibilities? A broad Civics education isn't just a dull topic to pass the time, it is essential that every citizen in our country be educated and equipped.
