

The idea of prohibiting an activity that promotes outdoor activity, and also there are only 3 months of the sunshine in Oregon. This really only is applicable for a few months, and who does it affect? I don't understand why anyone would want this.