

I am strongly opposed to this. The study being used to supposedly demonstrate that erosion is caused by boats doesn't even support that theory. In fact, it says there are many other things that contribute equally, or more, to erosion than boats do. This is complete overreach and unfair to families who want a safe, healthy, socially distant activity to enjoy during a global pandemic. In addition, something this impactful should be put to vote; it's totally unacceptable to mandate such things without allowing voters to have a say.
