

I fully support the use of raw dairy in all its forms and am very familiar with the high demand for raw milk. I think it would do dairy farmers a lot of good with Oregon's movement to eat locally sourced and as natural as possible to be able to produce raw butter as one of their products.