

This doesn't cost the government money, and despite what RMLS will tell you, it shouldn't inconvenience most small owners. If it slows down the liquidity of Private Equity by some miniscule portion of a percentage point--well, we as a society will be better off for it.