

The very nature of private schools is the ability to choose an educational path for their child which might be different from what public school offers. This can fall into many categories- the arts, small class size, choice of curriculum, etc. This is a right parents should have in their child's education.

To force private schools to follow certain mandates or rules in these areas should not be allowed. Allow Oregon families to be able to make choices for themselves. The government should not be allowed to enforce rules on private institutions. (And to not allow sports participation based on registration into this organization is really a low blow).
