

I've graduated highschool now, but my sister is in highschool and it's a huge worry. I've had to ask friends who can afford menstrual products to grant me some, and now that I work I buy them for my sister. I've had friends who have skipped school because of their period. It's hugely embarrassing so not highly discussed, but it would change the lives of so many kids who do menstruate.