

Our founding fathers, and the legal documents they put into place, wanted to make sure that the government did not interfere with the rights of religious freedom. This bill could and would interfere and deny such rights.