

With the rapid decline of fish populations on rivers lacking broodstock programs, and losses even on those rivers, it is imperative the State of Oregon takes measures to mitigate these population losses.