

I've been attending Salem Cinema for a long time, and it's been the highlight of moving back to this town. I've had the privilege of being employed by them after over one year in a dedicated quarantine, and since my first day I've seen people healing - if only slightly - by treating themselves, their families, and their friends to a classic, magical cinema experience. The people here have proven to me every day I've worked how loved and needed this theater is, and how much solace it provides so many people in this town - especially after everything we've all been through.
