

Early release for prisoners who are too debilitated or compromised to commit further crimes makes sense. Allowing a committee of licensed medical professionals determine the validity of such requests also makes sense. It is time to show mercy.