

I feel that our standards for teachers and government employees in general are dropping. This is just another example. Let's keep our standards up. The high compensation for these positions justifies a higher standard.