

Is the purpose of these competitions sound wildlife management? If so, are there any more humane options that can be cost-effectively explored? If not, please be clear about the point of these events. To many of those not close to them, they appear cruel and unnecessary.