

One of the most important component of public safety is removal of violent criminals from the public, in order to protect the public. No one should be assaulted, raped or murdered, and when Measure 11 was implemented, there was a reduction in those crimes. There is no way as a society we should harm the hard working, responsible citizen trying to raise their kids and be good citizens by inflicting them to the danger these people truly are. I don't think the mandatory sentences are strong enough, personally. I support victims. Keep Measure 11 or if anything, make it stronger.
