

to whom it may concern,

Now is not the time to impose a tax on an industry that has taken a sizable hit already with the Pandemic and all its restrictive regulations and wild fires. This will also adversely affect the communities that the industry still manages to partially support.