

There are too many gun laws that indiscriminately punish or put gun owners through financial hoops as is. Look at how well gun control works in Chicago; it doesn't. There should be no reason to create loopholes where any governing agency has the potential to withhold judgement indefinitely because it couldn't make a judgement. That is not okay. Responsible gun owners who get background checks and or a CHL should not have to prove their innocence time and time again. Its a costly hurdle that is unnecessary. Alternatively there should be a fast pass system to bypass all this background check crap. My constitutional rights should not be placing me in bondage. Criminals are not going to be concerned with using an FFL or getting a background check. Bills like this continue to punish those who do follow the rules.
