

I am a mother. As a resident of this county I find our children are far too often on the back burner when it comes to public funding. Families want to live and thrive here. That means we need early childhood support and support for our public schools. We need initiatives that create a more equitable situation for all our residents and most importantly, all the children.