

I am part of the Douglas County predator control district. The predator control helps both livestock owners and timber owners with predator control. The County has records that are publicly available that state how much money they devote to predator control and what portion of that comes from our predator control district. . If we do not fund USDA Wildlife Services to do this work, I will have to do it myself and I will not be able to be nearly as focused in my removal as trained USDA agents, and many landowners lack money to pursue nonlethal measures first without the assistance of USDA Wildlife Services.
