

To Whom it May Concern:

I Dea Nicole Beeler, began my journey with Hypnosis a few years ago when I was in a very dark time in my life. Hypnosis only became an option for me after much research and the usual Western Medicine doing very little to understand my PTSD, Anxiety, and drug addiction. I became addicted to opiates after a 4 car pile up in which I was told pain medication was going to be a needed daily routine. I got clean following the AA Program but, my guilt from the addiction had cost me everything I loved. Including the love for myself. Hypnosis was something a friend recommended as it had helped her cope with her Grandma's death. Please keep in mind I no longer trusted Doctors or mainstream medical practitioners due to not only my past but, through watching this same thing happen to the majority of my peers. Today I have almost 4 years clean and sober. It's not just the hypnosis that matters though. It's the friend and life coach you find within your hypnosis. I've been able to spend 4 years healing and forgiving myself for the pain, destruction, and selfish life that I didn't have one clue of how to fix (not for lack of trying as I've done counseling for many years and virtually it never helped anything at all). Working with a Psychologist helped but, not in the ways hypnosis has worked to believe in myself again. Since then I've met the most amazing community of support I've ever had. I've had Reiki, Angelic Healing, and Hypnosis greatly influence my life for the best. I trust these which have been proven to work for me but, I never would have reached out if it were a Doctor. I've helped many others to get through their past traumas just by paying for their first appointment. Each one I've seen completely heal and continue to heal with this outstanding system. I am now certified to do all of these (minus Reiki) as I work with other professionals in alternative medicine to build the lives of others in our communities for a positive difference that affects so many people (communities, families, internal dialogue, etc). The benefits are endless. What I've learned is the most important out of this alternative medicine is that you have to be able to empathize with your patients. Without understanding and empathy you cannot help heal others in the right direction of believing in themselves again. You could not create this environment or relationship with patients by a Doctor. They simply do not have the time. Please do not vote on something that you have very little knowledge in especially when it affects the lives of so many amazing women that I personally know. Instead please try this alternative medicine out for yourselves so you can have a better understanding of the many benefits and uses. I could easily put many testimonials of this together but, I had less then 24 hours to write this letter (once I was informed this law was on the table). My personal opinion is that placing these alternative medicines into the mainstream medical practice system would completely defeat the reason most people seek alternative medical treatment.

Thank you,

Dea Beeler
