

Alternative modalities of healing by practitioners have added so much to my healing along with medical brilliance. I got my life back free from prescription drugs, free from pain with reiki, all networking through accountability, and openness with practitioners and my physicians. I know the healing of my whole body, mind and spirit was because of this incredible profound wise experienced professional group of diverse modalities. My mentor and hero I took after to pursue many ideas of healing, none other than the ex President Jimmy Carter. His story of pursuing all aspects of healing for his brain tumor inspired me during my cancer. Luckily I had doctors who said I would die but listened to my desire to create a team of alternative practitioners. This bill would certainly discriminate against so many, such as those in Chinese medicine, the likes of Deepak Chopra doing meditation and reiki here... This is like going back to using leeches instead of amazing life giving wellness.
