

I support universal healthcare. My friend with type 1 diabetes just found out that OHP won't cover the supplies for his CGM (glucose monitor), without the CGM his insulin pump cannot do its job properly and this is affecting his health since he is now experiencing radically high blood sugars - it is so much better to have a CGM to make sure that his levels stay consistent, and this will also mean fewer health problems in the future, saving money on medical bills in the long run.
