

I am not a riverfront landowner, and I am not against boating and great activities on the willamette river. I love wakeboarding and my brother in law has a boat that would fall under the 4000 lb limit. There really is no reason to use a heavier boat if studies have shown the damage to shorelines is real. If there isn't enough evidence in the Newberg pool, please look elsewhere across the country at similar size rivers with similar weight limits. Please support this bill which would ensure a healthy river system for generations to come, a treasure for all of us.
