

If Nearman so opposes the duly established government and duly elected officials of that government doing the work of representing the people of Oregon he should have resigned (or never have run for office). To invite violence into the halls of government is a criminal act and Nearman should be tried and punished accordingly. Such is the risk of insurrection.