

This is a blatant, pathetic witch hunt spearheaded by corrupt democrats seeking to further solidify power. Mike did not engage in anything that could be even remotely construed as "disorderly conduct". Leaving a building is not disorderly. Democrats are angry that republicans are doing everything within their legal capacity to give a voice to conservatives, and that's what this is about: you're angry. Angry that people are standing up to you, so you must now resort to lies and slander to remove them.

Everyone supporting this is a corrupt, disgusting, would-be tyrant throwing a tantrum about not getting their way every single time. We the people will remember this.
