

Trauma-informed approaches are shown to improve outcomes for families and individuals involved. I think we should have pilot programs to evaluate them in improving educational outcomes