

As a former educator and public health professional, I support this bill. It is deeply saddening that Oregon youth hold such a large burden of underserved and unaddressed mental health needs. Collecting accurate and longitudinal data on youth suicide is a step in the correct direction.