Re: [SB 554]...

I vigorously support the Second Amendment enshrined in our sacred Constitution..

I believe in gun ownership.

I believe in concealed, carrying of weapons after the person is certified and licensed to do so.

I support making sure our government keeps their damn hands off your guns.

I say "your guns" because, I do not have one. Although, the riots in Portland, ANTIFA and the Black Lives Matter urban terrorists; who burn buildings, loot businesses, assault innocent people and commit multiple attempted murders on Police Officers and are not prosecuted and thrown into jail for decades; have given me great concern to become licensed to carry a concealed weapon myself, for self protection and the defense and protection of my friends and family.

I'm concerned as to the limitations on the Second Amendment [SB 554] is designed to place on concealed weapons carried by licensed great fellow Americans and I do not like it one bit.

I am very worried about the following; consider you are in a public building and a "person" is in the process to commit a criminal act, threatening the life of an innocent person. A person licensed to carry a concealed weapon pulls out their weapon in defense of self or another. A second person then does the same but does not know who the "bad person" is. A catastrophic chain reaction is foreseeable and several innocent people could be shot; wounded and or killed.

I do not want the Second Amendment to have any encumbrances what so ever.

If you make a mistake and "shoot" the wrong person or your bullet ricochets off of something and injures and or kills an innocent person...you will lose everything you own including your freedom.

There are a lot of really bad people in this world. There are really bad people in our country. If a bad person were to threaten the life of anyone, I hope they get "blown-away into very small particles."

Good Americans should be able to carry concealed weapons without government interference. But, the First Amendment enshrined in our sacred Constitution has limitations. For example; in a crowded theater you cannot falsely yell "Fire." Thus, the Second Amendment might also have limitations on where weapons are permitted and where they are not. I am not a judge in this matter. I do not have a gun but, I'll fight to keep government from taking yours.

Be very careful.

You do not want a felony conviction or even to defend yourself from getting one.

Respectfully submitted,
