

I have a graduate degree and never had a teacher of color. That meant I missed out on the opportunity to see non white leadership. I missed out on the opportunity to learn. My four children recently finished school and only had two teachers of color. They were in schools where more than half the students were students of color. The white teachers in these schools were no doubt also victims of our segregated system. They also missed a key part of true education: learning from someone with a different world view. Now that we know better, let's do better!
