

I would like to see this bill pass, legalizing natural organic reduction of human remains, otherwise known as human composting. From what I have read, it seems a viable, eco-friendly alternative to burial or cremation, and is already legal in Washington.