

I have been riding since 2003 and I can't even count how many times not being able to lane share has almost gotten me killed from people slamming on thier brakes and almost hitting me. Being able to lane share and filter thru the cars is so much safer for motorcyclists I have ridden in areas like California where it's safe and in some cases had to do it in areas where people were driving unsafe. A ticket would have been worth it at those times vs Death or worse pass this bill there's zero reasons to not.
