WHAT THE MEASURE DOES:

Requires Department of State Fire Marshal, State Board of Architect Examiners, State Board of Examiners for Engineering and Land Surveying, Department of State Lands, and State Historic Preservation Officer to produce housing cost impact statements when adopting or repealing rules, or amendments to rules. Redefines housing cost impact statement to require agencies to produce development cost estimates of proposed rulemaking on construction of single family dwellings and middle housing units for sale at 80 to 150% of Oregon median family income. Requires agencies to produce findings on whether proposed rulemaking will displace historically disadvantaged community members or families with incomes below 50% median family income in areas proposed rulemaking applies to. Requires agencies to produce findings on whether proposed rulemaking will have significant adverse effect on ability of historically disadvantaged community members to buy housing for sale at 80 to 150% of median family income in areas proposed rulemaking applies to. Requires agencies to produce findings on whether proposed rulemaking will require residential developers to adopt additional training, record keeping, or inspections or verification, and requires agencies to estimate development impacts of administrative requirements on certain housing types. Directs Oregon Housing Stability Council to adopt rulemaking for implementation of provisions. Directs agencies to monitor and maintain records of cost estimates, reporting to interim committee of Legislative Assembly at least once every two years if estimates change substantially since rules adoption. Allows agencies to declare proposed rulemaking outweighs certain cost impacts, displacement, and adverse effects if protection of health and safety requires. Allows courts or reviewing authorities to remand proposed rulemaking if agencies fail to make proper required findings.

ISSUES DISCUSSED:

- Remanding and overturning of rules
- Modernization of housing cost impact statements
- Ability for agencies to implement new requirements
- Variance of development cost estimates
- Stakeholder engagement during policymaking process

EFFECT OF AMENDMENT:

-1 Establishes operative date of October 1, 2022. Clarifies Oregon Housing Stability Council authority to implement provisions. Declares emergency, effective on passage.

BACKGROUND:

Certain agencies are required to produce housing cost impact statements when they propose adoption or repeal of rules, or amendments to existing rules. SB 1537 -1 STAFF MEASURE SUMMARY

Senate Bill 1537 adds five agencies to the requirement to produce housing cost impact statements. The measure redefines housing cost impact statements to include the estimated effects of proposed rulemaking on development costs for certain housing selling at 80 to 150% of median family income, findings on how proposed rulemaking affects displacement of historically disadvantaged community members and low-income families, and findings related to the ability to purchase certain housing and related to administrative requirements for residential developers. Oregon Housing Stability will adopt rulemaking for implementation of the measure's provisions. Agencies will be required to monitor and maintain records, reporting to an interim committee of the Legislative Assembly at least once every two years if estimates change substantially since the adoption of rules. In addition, the measure allows courts or reviewing authorities to remand proposed rulemaking if agencies fail to make the proper required findings.
