

I keep hearing about the Alameda Fire, but what about the Obechain Fire. Are we just not that important because we didn't lose as much as the Alameda Fire victims did? I feel that everybody lost the same amount that day when fires intentionally set burned many out of their homes and businesses were destroyed. My family and I were displaced, but you never hear about the Obechain Fire and what we had to do. A lot of Obechain victims had to move their livestock. A lot of us lost food because we had no power for weeks. We were all victims on that day. No matter if you're Alameda Fire victim or Obechain we all feared for our lives, because we didn't know if our house was standing or not. I have seen a lot of effort to help Alameda Fire victims but haven't seen much effort to help Obechain people. The FEMA truck was at Walmart for maybe a day and then they left. I just want some coverage and help for Obechain Fire victims. We are a rural community and I know you guys don't seem to care about rural communities but people live out here too. We pay our taxes and are as much part of Oregon as everybody in the big to small cities. We could have used the same amount of help as the Alameda Fire victims. Even if it didn't warrant the help, just knowing the help was there would have been better than nothing at all. Thank you for taking the time to read this.

Thank you
